“ I just learned of Calvin's death and wanted to share a moment with you. I met him back in the '80s and he helped me a lot with electrical problems and with, of all things, turtle problems in the family pond. He came to my books signings and I enjoyed his sense of fun and laughter. I know you miss him. I will forever remember him sloshing through the muck and mire and pulling turtles out of the pond. He was one fine man. May you remember his laughter and smile.
