My heartfelt condolences to Steve's family. Steve and I were childhood-neighborhood friends with him being the older more maturer one on the block. Growing up Steve took on the roll of father and older brother to his siblings and took good care of his mother. You know the old saying, observe how a boy or man treats his mother and you will know what kind of man he will be. Well, Steve was a good man. He always took good care of Ms. Agnes, his siblings and his friends.

I would have probably flunked algebra, if not for Steve's assistance on difficult homework assignments. Thank goodness for a smart neighborhood friend!

Steve had a love for tinkering on old cars and all the boys in the neighborhood loved hanging out with him and observing his auto mechanic skills. Cars were his love and racing was his game.

When my cousin Billy from Savannah would visit , he and my brother would handout with Steve, along with Carol Blankenship and Ricky Williams, because they loved the gift of gab and sharing their car stories with each other, along with whatever other subjects guys that age talked about or schemed about!

I'm pretty sure when Steve entered the pearly gates, he was welcomed with open arms. First and foremost, Ms. Agnes, then followed by Carol Blankenship, Charles McCook, Dennis Moore and all of his other buddies who have gone on before him. I can only imagine what they are all talking about. Cars and racing comes to mind. RIP My longtime, childhood friend. You will be missed by so many.

“ *Lee and Sharon,
I ride my furbabies every day or so and as I drive thru Gordon and the surrounding area, memories come flooding back. As we pass different locations, I tell them who lived where and the memories I have of those who lived there. I often think of those I have known and wondered if they were still with us and how they are doing. I am so very sorry to learn of Stephen's passing, I have vague memories of him always laughing....a wonderful smile....thoughts and prayers are with all..*

“ I go back 55 - 60 years , having an older brother that had to raise / take me were ever , his friends were like brothers , always working on cars , couldn't ask for better . then uncle Sam called , grew up without brother and sister due to marriage and military service , grew apart . no matter what death is never easy . my heart goes out to Tanya and John . he cared deeply for them , and at times was hard to see . all the pain is gone and he's resting with ease now . RIP brother
