“ *Cheryl,
I was saddened to hear that you lost your father. I always thought your mother and father had a certain dignity about them, one that seemed they should have been living in a more cultured area. Your mother was probably the most poised woman I met when I was growing up, and your father seemed to be a perfect fit for her. I remember one party at your house when there were teenagers or pre-teens everywhere. They just took all the commotion in stride, God Bless Them. I consider myself blessed for having known them when I was a child.*
