“ What a punch in the heart. We have been friends since kindergarten. We spent the night together every weekend, we were at every birthday party. We went to a circus together. I remember that phase you went through when you were all about the letter "K". We played softball together every year. Then you changed schools and we lost touch only to find each other years later after you graduated from college and we started back hanging together everyday as adults. I remember when Carrina was born. We took different paths but I always have and always will love you. Rest easy my friend. I hope you have found the peace that you couldn't find on this earth. I love you Jody. I know it's with a "G", but you never spelled it that way. ❤️
